amidst the recent global financial crisis and housing busts in various countries the philippines booming housing industry has been heralded as southeast asia s hottest real estate hub and the saving grace of a supposedly resilient philippine economy this growth has been fueled by demand from balikbayan returnee overseas filipinos and has facilitated the rise of gated suburban communities in manila s sprawling peri urban fringe but as the filipino dreams of successful balikbayans are built inside these new gated residential developments the lives of marginalized populations living in these spaces have been upended and thrown into turmoil as they face threats of expulsion based on almost four years of research this book examines the tumultuous geographies of neoliberalization that link suburbanization transnational mobilities and accumulation by dispossession through an accounting of real estate and new suburban landscapes it tells of a filipino transnationalism that engenders a market based and privatized suburban political economy that reworks socio spatial relations and class dynamics in presenting the literal and discursive transformations of spaces in manila s peri urban fringe the book details life inside new gated suburban communities and discusses the everyday geographies of privileged new property owners mainly comprised of balikbayan families and exposes the contradictions of gated suburban life from resistance to home owner association rules to alienating feelings of loss it also reveals the darker side of the property boom by mapping the volatile spaces of the philippines surplus populations comprised of the landless farmers informal settler residents and indigenous peoples to make way for gated communities and other profitable developments in the peri urban region marginalized residents are systematically dispossessed and displaced while concomitantly offered relocation to isolated socialized housing projects the last frontier for real estate accumulation these compelling accounts illustrate how the territorial embeddedness of neoliberalization in the philippines entails the consolidation of capital by political economic elites and privatization of residential space for an idealized transnational property clientele more than ever as the philippines is being reshaped by diaspora and accumulation by dispossession the contemporary moment is a critical time to reflect on what it truly means to be a nation in counter hispanization in the colonial philippines the author analyzes the literature and politics of spiritual conquest in order to demonstrate how it reflected the contribution of religious ministers to a protracted period of social anomie throughout the mission provinces between the 16th 18th centuries by tracking the prose of spiritual conquest with the history of the mission in official documents religious correspondence and public controversies the author shows how contrary to the general consensus in philippine historiography the literature and pastoral politics of spiritual conquest reinforced the frontier character of the religious provinces outside manila in the americas as well as the philippines by supplanting the absence of law in the name of supplementing or completing it this frontier character accounts for the modern reinvention of native custom as well as the birth of literature and theater in the tagalog vernacular how can local experiences and the social transformation generated by modernity help to enrich our understanding of the international what might a version of the much discussed non western international relations ir look like what continuities and discontinuities from the philippine experience in particular can be useful for understanding other post colonial polities the philippines makes a fascinating case study of a medium sized developing post colonial multi ethnic and multi cultural state in southeast asia cruz adiong and their contributors map horizons of non western approaches in philippine experiences of ir rooted in the global south and in local customs and practice examining both theory and praxis they explore issues as diverse as pre colonial history diplomacy religion agrarian reform and the philippines relationship with key regions in the global south the book will appeal to researchers interested in southeast asian studies and alternative perspectives on ir
